

WHAT IS CHALLENGING ABOUT CULTURAL DIVERSITY IN CAMHS?

INNOVATIVE CLINICAL PRACTICE WITH CHILDREN
AND YOUNG PEOPLE

Friday 21 November 2008

Tavistock Centre, London

Fee £150

Cultural diversity in Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services has been a significant issue in recent years. However, there has been a sense, both from government and other organisations, that the Delivering Race Equality programme developed in adult psychiatry can be delivered to CAMHS professionals without much change.

This conference will focus on issues of addressing race and equity in CAMHS from a developmental perspective and will seek to extend our thinking about the special issues which face professionals working with children and young people. It will provide an opportunity to explore the role of race, equity and ethnicity in this clinical work.

This conference will provide a unique forum in which to explore how culture, race and equity relate to professional models and theoretical frameworks and case material will be used to illustrate ways of working which are respectful of culture, race and ethnicity.

Participants will be given the opportunity to explore how they can be self-reflexive in cross-cultural work and take into account cultural transference and cross-cultural reflection.

The day will consist of a blend of keynote presentations and themed workshops which will give participants the opportunity to hear about innovative clinical work integrating race and equity. The conference will be of interest to anyone working with children, young people and their families in CAMHS, community settings and schools. It will also be of interest to those wanting to explore interdisciplinary work in the context of a multicultural society.
